'MISSING,' SHE FINDS SELF

Georgetown's "Mystery" Disappearance Cleared Up By Wire To Family

The disappearance of Mrs. Rosemary Rackley, 17, from her home near Georgetown on Monday, was explained Thursday evening when she sent a telegram to her husband. The message said she was at San Francisco visiting the O'Connell family and advised the bridegroom of a month not to worry.

Meanwhile, an investigation which had been instituted by county officials on Wednesday following complaint as to her two-day old disappearance, had traced Mrs. Rackley as far as Sacramento.

Despite reports to the contrary which gained some circulation, there never was any posse in the field searching for Mrs. Rackley and the county officials had never found in their investigation any reason to believe that a posse might assist in finding the woman.

The chief reason that authorities did not move to put a posse in the field was that they were unable to decide in the course of the investigation, where a posse might start to look for Mrs. Rackley. There was no point that was found in following her trail that would indicate she might have wandered into the countryside.

Mrs. Hackley had been traced by Georgetown acquaintances as far as Greenwood. The official investigation followed her to Auburn, where it was found she had made some purchases and transacted other business, and then took a bus for Sacramento.

The investigation was being continued there and at the Bay District when the "missing" housewife reported her whereabouts.

Authorities said they were unable to guess as to Mrs. Rackley's purpose in going to San Francisco, but that their interest in the case is closed with the determination of her whereabouts.

BURNEY RAPE TRIAL SET

Pheneger Denies Guilt In Arraignment Before Judge At Redding

William Rudolph Pheneger of Fall River Mills pleaded not guilty to charges of assault with intent to commit rape and attempting to commit rape when arraigned before Superior Judge Albert F. Ross recently at Redding.

A jury trial was set for September 12th. Pheneger is held in the county jail in lieu of $10,000 bail.

He is charged with attempting to assault Miss Katherine Cauman of Redding at Burney on July 2nd. He gave himself up to officers the following day, after a posse had sought him, murmuring lynch threats. Miss Cauman was badly beaten.

Glenn D. Newton, defending Pheneger, made a motion Wednesday that the second count be quashed, and the matter was submitted.

Pheneger served a county jail term in this county last Spring on a bad check charge and was on probation at the time of his arrest in connection with the above crime.

License Examiner Is To Be Withdrawn

It was announced at Sacramento on Thursday that Placerville is one of one hundred thirty-nine cities in the state in which the services of a drivers' license examiner for the Department of Motor Vehicles are being suspended as a matter of economy. It is presumed that in the future, applicants will be certified for licenses by the highway patrol in this county.

42 County Scouts At Fair On Thursday

Forty-two Boy Scouts and Scouters "slept in" Friday morning in celebration of Boy Scout Day at the Golden Gate Exposition on Thursday.

The El Dorado County Scouts and Scouters shared the day with thousands of Scouts and leaders from all sections of the state and returned home at an early hour Friday morning.

Charles Leventon was among the Friday morning callers from Grizzly Flat.

"Save Water," District Asks Of Residents

An appeal to users of El Dorado Irrigation District, including the city of Placerville, to "save water," was voiced Friday morning by W. A. Jenkinson, manager of the district.

"There is no acute shortage," he explained, "but we do not have as much water available this year as we have had in other years and we are asking that all users be economical with the water; do not waste it."

Jenkinson revealed that it has been necessary to "take one day of water a week" from agricultural users of the district, effective this week.

"Up to this time," he said, "we have been able to provide almost all of the water anyone has wanted. The users have been very considerate and have been watching their water use very closely. When anyone wanted extra water, we have been able to give it to them, and I must say that the users have been very considerate in notifying us when they have had water to spare, so that we have been able to make less water do more work this year."

LEO SLATTERY MADE RANGER

Assistant On Georgetown District Promoted To Plumas National Forest

Leo Slattery, assistant ranger on Georgetown district of El Dorado National Forest, is being promoted to a ranger ship and leaves Monday to take charge of the Merrimac district, on Plumas National Forest.

This is according to Forest Supervisor Edwin P. Smith, who announced Friday morning that he had recently received word of the transfer.

Mr. Slattery has been assistant ranger on the Georgetown district since February 12, 1938, serving under Ranger R. C. M. Berriman until his retirement a few months ago, and since that time under Ranger Frank McCaslin.

Prior to assignment to the Georgetown district, Mr. Slattery had been attached to the regional office of the Forest Service at San Francisco, a post he attained shortly following his graduation from the University of California in 1937.

Mr. Slattery will leave Monday to accept his new assignment. His successor on the Georgetown district has not been named.

SANDRA CROWELL WEDS THURSDAY EVENING AT LAKE TAHOE

Mrs. H. J. Lindberg on Friday announced to friends the marriage of her daughter, Sandra Ann Crowell, and Lyn Lucas, at the Outdoor Chapel at Zephyr Point, Lake Tahoe. The service was performed on Thursday evening.

Among those who witnessed the ceremony were the members of the Clyde Lucas orchestra, currently engaged at the Stateline Club, Lake Tahoe, in which the bridegroom shares management with his brother.

Others present included relatives and immediate friends of the principals.

The Lucas orchestra plays one additional week at the Stateline Club following which they move to St. Louis for an engagement and the newlyweds will travel with the orchestra.

The new Mrs. Lucas has met with some success in the radio entertainment field and her pictures have been widely circulated by the publicity division of the Golden Gate Exposition, in connection with the portrayal of news and advertising events calling attention to the fair.

The wedding service was followed by a reception for the couple at the Stateline Club.

ALIBI CLAIMED BY SUSPECT

Short Denies He Was With Brower At Murder Of Prospector

Following questioning at San Quentin Prison on Thursday of William Frederick Brower and William Short, District Attorney Henry S. Lyon announced Friday morning that a further investigation of Short's whereabouts a year ago is being made.

Short claims an alibi and denies that he was with Brower at the time Ernst was slain.

He was taken to San Quentin Thursday by Deputy Sheriff Ralph Jones in company with the district attorney and during the day both Short, and Brower, a prison inmate, were questioned concerning their connection with the finding of the body of the prospector a year ago, on the Middle Fork of the American River below Cock Robin Point.

Brower, who was arrested within a few weeks after the discovery of the crime, which was established as a murder with robbery as the motive, subsequently pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree and was sentenced to serve from five years to life in prison.

In a signed statement to authorities, Brower implicated Short in the crime and the latter was arrested last Monday in Nevada after a year's search.

Authorities indicated Friday morning that Short denies he was with Brower at the time Ernst was slain. He was with him at the scene of the crime when the coroner was there to claim the body, the officials state.

The district attorney said that Short's statement of an alibi is being checked and that a further investigation of the case is being made. He did not reveal the nature of the additional inquiry.

Friday's Games

Snowline vs Placerville Motor Parts; Camino Lumberjacks vs Mac's Jumbos; Diamond Springs Lime Company vs Forest Service.

In the case of the Snowline-Placerville Motor Parts game, it is in the realm of possibility that the contest may be postponed. Snowline CCC camp has been under quarantine for scarlet fever for the past ten days and at this writing it was not known definitely whether the quarantine will be lifted in time to permit of the Snowliners playing tonight's game. The health situation at the camp has never been dangerous and at last reports it was felt that indications are favorable for lifting the quarantine. However, at noon Friday, the camp commander was at Sacramento conferring with district officers and whether the quarantine might be lifted was not known.

MT. RALSTON'S OUTING SET

Club Sponsoring Labor Day Weekend Trip To Camp On Shores Of Round Lake

The Round Lake area south of Echo Summit and southeast of Luther Pass has been selected as the location for the eighth annual Labor Day weekend trip sponsored by the Mt. Ralston Fish Planting Club of Sacramento sportsmen into a remote high Sierra region.

The trip will be limited to fifty sportsmen.

Dr. R. W. McCluskey, president of the club, has appointed Les Vandere as chairman of the committee in charge of the trip. Vandere has named a committee to assist him and Ross Pierce is in charge of reservations.

Selection of the Round Lake area is in line with the policy to vary the objective of the trip from year to year. The first three trips were directed to Desolation Valley, the fourth to Velma Lakes, the fifth to the Wrights Lake area, the sixth to Velma Lakes and the seventh to the Rubicon Springs-Rockbound Lake area.

The trip cost is set at $7.50 on a non-profit basis and this covers meals for the three days, the hire of cooks, wranglers and horses, and the transportation of bed rolls and all camp equipment from Sacramento to the Round Lake camp site. The bed rolls, food and equipment will be hauled from Sacramento to the parking area by truck and from there on to the camp site by horse pack train.

The sportsmen will drive to the Echo Summit Friday afternoon, September 1st, go to the camp site Saturday, Sept. 2nd, and return to Sacramento Monday evening, Sept. 4th. Reservations can be made from now on.

WINTER PEAR FILM TO BE SHOWN THROUGHOUT COUNTRY

Guests at the International Apple Shippers convention will see the first eastern showing of the pear film, "Pear Lands of the Pacific," on Wednesday afternoon, August 9.

Presenting the film will be E. R. Pooley, president of the bureau, who is entering his sixth consecutive term as head of the bureau. He is now on a trip throughout the east for his firm, the Hood River office of American Fruit Growers.

Mr. Pooley will give a brief talk on the bureau's campaign for the coming season, preceding the film showing. An unusual merchandising plan is indicated in the bureau's promotional plan, "Pear Bureau Road Show." Instead of barker advertising bottles of sure-cure medicine, however, the bureau will emphasize the healthfulness of fall and winter pears, "nurtured by summer sunshine and cool Pacific breezes."

This road show, which will travel through many states and be shown simultaneously in different territories by a corps of fieldmen, has the pear film as the central entertainment. Several additional features, enough to make it a bang-up "road show," are included in the evening's entertainment. Details will be released later.

SOIL SIGN-UP NEARS END

Committee Meets Tonight To Make Plans For Completing Petitions

Preparations for completing the necessary sign-up of farmers within the El Dorado Irrigation District to warrant application for the creation of a Soil Conservation District within the area, will be concluded tonight at a meeting of the sponsoring committee at the office of County Assessor E. L. Scott.

The committee hopes that the several petitions which have been in circulation during the past week will receive a sufficient number of signatures of farmers of the proposed district, representing a sufficient percentage of the acreage of the area to make it possible to present the petitions to the Board of Supervisors at their meeting Tuesday of next week.

The law requires that 25 per cent of the farmers owning 25 per cent of the land of the proposed district must sign the petitions. At latest report, more than 25 per cent of the land within the district was represented by the signatures on the petition, but the total of signers was short of 25 per cent.

However, owing to the general interest in the proposed district, and in view of the fact that no serious objections have been met thus far, the committee members expect to complete the necessary sign-up during the weekend.

The meeting tonight at the assessor's office is for the purpose of a preliminary check of the signatures on the petitions to date, to guarantee the committee in its appearance before the Supervisors next week.

The district which it is proposed to form would be known as the Central El Dorado Soil Conservation District and its outside boundaries would be the same as those of the irrigation district, Placerville, Smith Flat, Camino and other populated areas within the district are exempted from the provisions of the organization.

Petitions are being circulated by George H. Volz, Leo Ench, James Irving, W. A. Caldwell, W. J. Clark, and Earl Blair. In addition, there is a petition available for signatures at the P. G. A. shed.

Any farmers interested who have not been contacted may sign the petition at the fruit shed, or may contact any of the committeemen, who will arrange to take their signatures.

Creation of a soil conservation district would make farms of the district eligible to receive the assistance of several federal agencies in the solution of problems relative to soil and water conservation of their properties.

BARTLETT PEAR PACT SIGNED

Agreement To Become Effective Wednesday, State Director Orders

SACRAMENTO, (U.P.)—A marketing agreement providing for establishment of minimum size and grade standards for Bartlett pears has been approved by the required 65 per cent of producers and handlers and will go into effect next Wednesday, Director of Agriculture W. B. Parker announced today.

The minimum standards, to apply to pears for fresh consumption, will be fixed by Parker upon recommendation of an advisory board composed of growers and handlers.

All Bartlett pears must be inspected by the federal-state shipping point inspection program, under terms of the order.

The state program supplements the control of size and grade of Bartlett pears shipped into interstate commerce under the California tree fruit agreement, which was set up under the federal agricultural marketing act.

Parker said 1939 producers, 95 distributors and 110 commission firms—approximately 70 per cent of the industry—assented to the pear agreement.

WOLF! WOLF!

During the past week, county officials were called upon to assist in determining the whereabouts of a county resident whose absence from her home was unexplained.

In the course of the investigation, an erroneous newspaper report gained some circulation. It was to the effect that a posse of CCC enrollees had been put into the field to search for the woman, possibly wandering in unsettled country on the north side of the county.

Such a posse was never in the field.

The district attorney's office and the sheriff's office was informed by officials in charge that an effort would be made to assign CCC enrollees to the search if, in the judgment of the county officers, it appeared that they would be of service. But the request for the issuance of the CCC enrollees was never made and no posse of any kind was organized.

In this connection it seems well to point out that the Civilian Conservation Corps is a government agency whose activities, in addition their regular duties, must be as well-considered as those of any other of any other government department. There must be a reason for doing things.

County officials, in their investigation of the disappearance, did not find reason enough to ask for the CCC assistance.

It is important that it be generally known that the CCC was not called into the search. This is in justice to those who direct the work of the corps in this county, as well as to the regular duties; nor will county officials request their help unless the situation warrants.

The recent instance is a case of "Wolf! Wolf!" and there was no wolf.

ARIZONA DROUGHT HITS CROPS AND STOCK OF INDIANS

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. (UP)—More than 16,000 Navajo Indians in the northern Arizona reservations face a "desperate" food and range problem in the wake of the worst drought in 15 years, E. R. Fryer, Indian superintendent, said today.

Fryer said the corn crop which served as a staple product for the 16,000 Indians was "almost completely lost" in the rainless, scorching weather that has prevailed during the summer months.

The Navajos attempted to round up their spare horses for sale on eastern markets in order to conserve the rapidly drying ranges but many of the animals died while being driven to points of shipment, Fryer said.

The official said the situation was "desperately critical" for the Indians and that unless sudden rains save the little that remains of current crops he will have to appeal to the federal government for relief aid during the winter.

A wide-mouthed funnel is useful when filling jars with vegetables or fruits for canning.

Canned products, especially those in glass cans, should be kept in a cool place and where they will not freeze in winter. To preserve colors, it is well to wrap glass cans in thick paper.

Cut flowers will keep longer in vases if the stems are cut slantwise, rather than straight across. This exposes more stem to the water and enables the flower to drink more.

Fighting Mosquitos

If mosquitos breed on surface water near your home, put crude kerosene on this or fight them with their natural enemies, minnows.

By HENRY McLEMORE

NEW YORK. (UP)—A drummer boy without his sticks, a gamecock without his spurs.

That is what some of the experts were likening Henry Armstrong to as he started training for the defense of his lightweight championship against Lou Ambers in Yankee stadium late this month.

Armstrong's hands are gone. You hear it everywhere you turn among boxing men. The little chocolate fists, the little bundles of bone and muscle, they have crumbled at last from their eternal pounding.

If they have it's no wonder. For more than a decade Armstrong has thrown his fists almost without cessation. He was never one to stall, even for a moment. From bell to bell he has waded in, stayed close within firing range, and pumped, pumped, pumped those fists of his. They have bounced off jaws, skulls, ribs, elbows and shoulders tens of thousands of times. There have been greater fighters than Armstrong, perhaps, but never busier ones. Flyweights, lightweights, welterweights—he has taken them all since 1929.

Not a boxer, but a fighter, Armstrong has called on his fists more than any man of his time. They were his attack and his defense at one and the same time. Behind a barrage of leather, a never-ending barrage, he waged and won his three titles.

His hands began to weaken before he ever won a title. But he kept throwing 'em. For years several of his fingers have been so rigid that he has had to forcibly bend them into the bundle of his fists after he slipped on his gloves. He kept the condition of his weapons pretty much of a secret until two months ago when he defended his welterweight championship against Ernie Roderick in London.

They gave him tremendous trouble in that fight. Early in the bout his left hand got so bad that he had to use it almost as a club, striking with his wrist. For days after the bout his left arm was black and blue almost up to the elbow and his fingers were horribly swollen.

He went from London to Paris for treatment, and came away to the French capital singing the praises of a surgeon who, he said, had made his hands well again. Yet they must not have been too well because shortly after his return to this country he went to Hot Springs and treated his hands with a mud cure. And today, in his camp in Pomona Lakes, he squeezes hard rubber balls, palms heavy stones, and swaddles his fists like new born babes before sparring or punching the bag.

The outcome of the fight literally is in Henry's hands. Given two solid fists, he will be too much for Ambers. But if he has to go in there under the stadium lights with broken hands and the Herkimer Italian may well give him his first defeat in 47 fights. Ambers hasn't Armstrong's class or punch, but he is as game as they come, fast as a streak, and his hard enough to cut and slice. He fought Henry to a far-three-well last September, and he is better now than he was then.

Only one thing is certain about the fight now and that is that it figures to be the best of the year.

MCGREGOR, Da. (UP)—Mrs. L. D. Perrine's cockatoo which was brought here from Australia 25 years ago as a fledgling, is as good as a watchdog. Let an intruder come near the house or a pedestrian pass on the road at a late hour and the cockatoo shrills a savage warning.

SETTING FIRES CHARGED TO TWO AS THIRD IS SOUGHT

Deputy District Attorney C. E. Tindall said he had obtained confessions from the pair, and investigators were looking for a third youth reported to have been involved. Conviction on the charge carries a sentence of one to 10 years.

Bible selections included the following passage from I John 4: 7, 8: "Beloved, let us love one another: for love is of God; and every one that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God. He that loveth not knoweth not God; for God is love."

A passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, was also included, which reads as follows: "It should be thoroughly understood that all men have one Mind, one God and Father, one Life, Truth, and Love. Elijah: A Life of Courage

HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Aug. 6 is I Kings 18:1-46, the Golden Text being Proverbs 15:29, "The Lord is far from the wicked; but he heareth the prayer of the righteous.")

TODAY'S LESSON is about Elijah, the prophet, whose courage and faith in God were very strong. He lived in the day of the wicked king, Ahab, who was one of the worst kings of Israel, and whose wife, Jezebel, also was a bad person. Both worshiped Baal instead of Jehovah.

Because of his wickedness, Elijah stood before Ahab and told him that there would be no more rain or dew for as many years as he (Elijah) said. That made Ahab very angry, of course, and the Lord told Elijah to flee and hide himself by the brook called Cherith, and to drink of the water of the brook and He would send the ravens to feed him. Elijah did as he was told, and sure enough the ravens came at morning and night with meat and bread for him.

When the stream went dry, the Lord told Elijah to go to the gate of a certain city and he would meet a widow woman who would give him food. Sure enough, when Elijah arrived at the city gate he saw a poor woman gathering sticks to make a fire. He told her she was to give him food, but she said she hardly had enough for herself and son. The prophet told her not to fear for there surely would be plenty for all. So she shared what she had with him, and there was plenty of food for many days.

Child Becomes Ill

Then the widow's son was taken ill and apparently died, and she was very much distressed, as you may imagine and felt maybe it was Elijah's fault. "What have I done to thee, O man of God?" she said to him, "art thou come unto me to call my son to remembrance, and to slay my son?"

Elijah took the child from his mother and carried him to his own room, and there he pleaded with God to restore the child. Then he spread his body over the child three times and prayed, and life came again to the boy and Elijah gave him again to his mother.

Then word came to Elijah that he should go back to Ahab, and the Lord would send rain to the earth, for there was grievous drought and famine in the land. It took courage for Elijah to go back and face the king, who was very angry with him because of the drought and famine. However, he did as the Lord bid him. Now Obadiah, governor of Ahab's house, "feared the Lord greatly," and when the wicked Jezebel would have killed all the prophets of the Lord, he hid them in a trench, until all was soaked, and then he called on the Lord to send fire to consume it.

Such a fierce fire descended from on high that the wood, the bullock, even the stones and the water were consumed or dried up in the heat. Then all the people fell upon their faces and said, "The Lord, He is the God," and Elijah told them to slay every one of the prophets of Baal.

Then he told Ahab to rise, eat and drink, for there was a sound of abundant rain. And Elijah went to the top of Carmel and cast himself down upon the earth and put his face between his knees, telling his servant to look toward the sea. The servant saw nothing, and Elijah told him to look again, even seven times. At the seventh time there was a small cloud, which quickly grew larger until the "heaven was black with clouds and wind, and there was a great rain."

But Jezebel was so infuriated at the slaughter of the priests of Baal that she would have killed Elijah, so that he was obliged to again flee for his life.

Because Ahab was a wicked king and worshiped Baal with his wife, Jezebel, Elijah, the prophet, told him there would be no "dew nor rain these years," which caused a famine.

Then the Lord told Elijah to flee and hide himself by a certain brook, drink of the waters of the brook, and He, the Lord, would command the ravens to feed him.

When the brook dried up, Elijah was directed to go to the city and a widow woman would care for him; she did, and when her son apparently died, Elijah was able to restore him.

Then Elijah went back to Ahab and challenged the priests of Baal to bring fire from heaven to burn their sacrifices; they failed but Elijah triumphed. (GOLDEN TEXT—Proverbs 15:29.)

STATE FAIR PROMISES DUST AT MINIMUM THIS YEAR

SACRAMENTO — Dust proofing has been completed in a big way at the California State Fair grounds in Sacramento in preparation for the 85th annual renewal of the country's greatest agricultural show September 1 thru 10.

The State Parks Public Works department took over the various open areas of the grounds recently and oiled and paved all thoroughfares, Secretary-Manager Robert Muckler announced.

At this year's fair all dust will be confined to that kicked up by harness and running horses as they scamper around the mile track. That will be reduced in part by the purchase of a new sprinkler of sufficient capacity to water the track between each race.

STATE BAR NOTES ACTION CURBING ACTIVITIES OF "UNLICENSED LAWYERS"

C. N. P. A. Inc. Service Upholding the contention of the State Bar that the practice of law by unlicensed persons is not only illegal but detrimental to the public, two California courts have recorded decisions condemning the practice, it is noted by Paul Vallee, president of the state bar.

In Martinez, Contra Costa county, Superior Judge Thomas D. Johnston signed an injunction restraining George Lee, Richmond notary and realty broker, from performing legal services.

"Members of the public who consult and are advised by unlicensed persons are deprived of the competent and confidential legal service members of the bar are required to perform," Judge Johnston declared in ordering the injunction.

The court found that Lee had for several years been giving legal advice in the courts.

Tiring of the great dust clouds raised by each passing car, four of our citizens had a heavy coat of oil laid on the roads in front of their respective homes during the week.

And so it appears to this scribbler that a limited number of those folks so avid to read this P. Pines scandal column, might, while the signs are right, subscribe to the paper and still an uneasy conscience. Not you, of course.

Brown, Fox and Pollock families all had great quantities of granite gravel strewn on their home lots recently. This to lay dust and beautify the premises.

An old saw says that "great bodies move slowly." Our proposed new church is no exception to this rule, it seems.

In San Diego county, Municipal Judge Eugene Daney held that Wm. J. Heinrich was in contempt of court for performing legal services in connection with the settlement of claims. He was fined $100. Both actions were filed and prosecuted by the state bar.

"Under California laws the state bar is given the duty of protecting the public from the dangers of law practice by unqualified persons," Vallee declared. "In carrying out this duty, the State Bar seeks to coats and barricades of corset stays. Bette Davis' figure is being emancipated to the comparatively revealing freedom of modern gowns. Her personality is also being freed from the convention-imposed shackles of Civil War and Gay Nineties periods.

In short, the heroine of "Jezebel" and "The Sisters" is once more on up-to-the-year-and-minute girl. In "Dark Victory," her latest Warner Brothers picture, which opens Sunday at the Empire, she comes to the screen as a 1939-model heiress.

Orry-Kelly, the fashion designer who handled the exterior decoration details of the modernization, equipped Miss Davis with some 18 gorgeous outfits. They run the style gamut from informal sports costumes to formal evening gowns. There's also a little item of a $25,000 sable coat which goes with one of the more elaborate evening ensembles.

Casey Robinson, who wrote the screen play version of the New York stage production by George Brewer, Jr., and Bertram Bloch, contributed bright, modern dialogue and up-to-date situations for the beautiful but ill-fated young heiress. Art director Robert Haas built her an expensive, but tasteful modern home and put the today touch to her surroundings. The rest Miss Davis attended to.

"B GIRLS" BANNED IN LOS ANGELES TAVERNS

LOS ANGELES, (AP) — The "B" girls, pretty sirens who loiter about the bars luring men into buying them drinks of colored water, are banned in Los Angeles.

Orders went out from William Bonelli, member of the state board of equalization, for the bars to fire the girls or lose their liquor licenses.

The "B" girls (B for barroom) receive a commission for every drink they can persuade the patrons to buy. The technique is to engage a drinker in conversation and maneuver him into setting them both up for drinks.

The bartender pours out the man another drink and hands the "B" girl a glass of tea or colored water, enabling the girls to last out the evening.

Bonelli's order followed a campaign by civic leaders who claimed the "B" girl system led to drunkenness and vice.
